CARLOAD OF SILVER-LEAD ORE TO GO OUT

PROPERTY ON THE EDGE OF DEATH VALLEY CONTAINS VARIETY OF MINERALS.

Harry Gregg is in from Death valley arranging to ship a carload of selected lead-silver ore. Interested with him in the property are Dr. Cunningham, R. B. Sorenson and Johnny Frank. There are three miners employed developing the group.

On the same property there is a large deposit of molybdenum, which occurs in a sulphur formation. On the ground is also a mineral spring, which is so strongly impregnated that it cannot be used for drinking purposes, although analysis shows that it possesses powerful medicinal qualities. The mine is situated near Cocamanga Springs, southeast of Lida. Mr. Gregg will return as soon as he arranges for the shipment.

Brady, general manager of the Silvermines corporation, left this morning for Jefferson canyon, where his company recently took over the old Kanrohat mine and is preparing to operate extensively. He stated that the Silvermines corporation will start its mill at Hornsilver in a few days. Mr. Brady has associated with him two former West End operatives. The Jefferson canyon property is under direction of Jay Carpenter, formerly superintendent of the West End mill, while the erector of the Hornsilver plant is Jap Hart, formerly foreman for the West End.

WOMEN WORK HARD FOR LIBERTY LOAN

CO-OPERATION WITH MEN IN THE CANVASS OF THE SIXTEEN PRECINCTS.

The woman's committee is busy these days soliciting subscriptions for the Liberty Loan. They are co-operating with the men in canvassing the sixteen precincts into which the town is divided and are naturally ambitious to make a showing.

The Klingers have generously donated their show window for the advertising of the woman's committee. Don't forget to give it a glance while passing by. Every woman who can should help Nevada "go over the top" in this second drive. Let us be again the first state of the Union to over-subscribe the loan.

WHITE CAPS

joining the Morning Glory company from operating anywhere within the White Caps ground, which included the entire 1,150 foot area. At opening of the show cause hearing before Judge Averill, plaintiff offered to stipulate that the original injunction, with plaintiff's consent injunction as to the west orebody, be continued in force until trial on the whole case, but rejected the Morning Glory company demand for underground survey and development work, but at the same time offering to allow free ingress and egress to any competent disinterested person appointed by the court to any part of the White Caps mine, for surveying and sampling. The Morning Glory refused and proceeded to put in evidence in support of its contention that the injunction against it should be dissolved and that it have the underground survey of the White Caps mine. The hearing took about two weeks. The court denied in toto the Morning Glory application for dissolution of the injunction against it and ordered the original order against the Morning Glory to stand, together with the White Caps company consent injunction as to the west orebody, precisely as the White Caps company attorneys had offered at various times during the case.

The court announced that decision on the Morning Glory application for underground surveys, etc., would be handed down later. The Morning Glory attorneys then asked that the White Caps company be enjoined from working within planes which would include not only the west orebody, but workings on levels below it, but on objection of the White Caps attorneys the court refused to make the order. The Morning Glory company had asked for an injunction restraining the White Caps company from working ores claimed by the Morning Glory company to have been taken from the disputed area.

The court unconditionally refused this demand. The White Caps demand that the Morning Glory company be absolutely enjoined from entering the White Caps ground anywhere was granted. The Morning Glory demand that the White Caps company be enjoined from working on the 1,150-foot disputed area was wholly denied, save as to about thirty or forty feet of the west orebody, to which restraint the White Caps company had repeatedly consented. Without such consent, what Judge Averill's view as to this small tract would have been is not known. The White Caps company having, as above stated, agreed throughout to do no work in the so-called west orebody pending the suit, the statement in the morning paper and elsewhere that the Morning Glory company was "successful in securing a joint injunction" is misleading and untrue. It secured nothing except what the White Caps company voluntarily extended. The foregoing is based on the records and can be verified in detail.

AMUSEMENTS

VIVIAN MARTIN AND JACK PICKFORD TODAY.

Vivian Martin, the dainty little actress who made such a pronounced success in "The Wax Model," "The Right Direction" and "The Spirit of Romance," will be seen at the Butler today in "The Girl From Home." Vivian Martin, by her wonderful dramatic ability, has established herself as one of the most popular photodramatic stars. Jack Pickford, brother of the wonderful Mary, is also a star and scored a great hit in "The Dummy." In their present production they are both given an opportunity to show their splendid dramatic training. "The Girl at Home" is a typical boy and girl story. It reminds the older persons in the audience of experiences in their own youthful career and it brings surprising revelations to the younger generation. No two stars in the country are better equipped to appear in photodramas of this nature than the young couple who are seen at the head of this program. The story of "The Girl at Home" has to do with Joan Hilton, the wealthy ward of Squire Padgate, who lives with the mother of Jimmie Dexter. The boy and girl are in love and Jimmie is preparing for college when his mother learns that her small income is wiped out. Joan is permitted to defray Jimmie's expenses without his knowledge. How affairs are finally straightened out and Jimmie is made to know that he must earn his own way is brought about in the most graphic and appealing manner, and must naturally be seen to be appreciated and enjoyed. In addition to the feature, the Ford Educational Weekly will be shown. Tomorrow, the big eight-reel circus drama, "Polly of the Circus," featuring Mae Marsh, who played the leading roles in both the "Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance." Remember the matinee starts promptly at 1 p. m. instead of 1:30, enabling everyone to attend the exercises at the Airdome at 3 p. m. Wednesday has been declared a half-holiday, all business being suspended in the afternoon. Read the story of "The Fighting Trail" in Wednesday's Bonanza—then see the picture Friday. "It's a heart!"
